My personal philosophy of education is to provide all students with a fair and equal opportunity to learn. My desire is to create a classroom atmosphere where students feel welcome and comfortable in every aspect. It is important for teachers and students to work together to create a respectful classroom community that addresses the needs of each and every student.

It is also my goal to create and support an inclusive educational setting that meets the differing needs of each student and at the same time does not leave any student feeling discriminated against or different from others in the class. It is my goal to identify the individual needs of each and every student and address them in a way that supports learning for all students. I hope to take the skills that I have learned at Nazareth and extend them to my classroom in a meaningful way. It is important that students not only learn educational concepts, but that they also learn how to relate these concepts to their everyday life.
